1. Establish a Black Trans Nation Advisory Board: Create a board aimed at providing guidance in policy development, organization development, and fostering a safe and prosperous environment for the Black Trans Nation. This board should be comprised of Black LGBTQIA+ community members, organizations, policymakers, and other key allies.

2. Develop a Comprehensive Legislative and Policy Platform: Develop a comprehensive platform that outlines core issues impacting the Black Trans Nation, such as access to healthcare, employment, housing, violence prevention, economic justice, and education. It should also include strategies for uplifting the political power of Black Trans citizens.

3. Create a Network of Secure Trans Spaces: Create safe and secure trans spaces, such as shelters, community centers, and drop-in programs. These should be resources to support and protect Black trans people, including a 24-hour crisis hotline and referrals for necessary medical attention or legal aid.

4. Invest in Community Organizations and Infrastructure: Develop long-term investments that allow for adequate resources for Black Trans organizations. Increase funding and resources towards grassroots groups, coalitions, and organizations that are proving programs and services that are beneficial to the Black Trans Nation.

5. Expand Employment Opportunities: Advocate for and develop economic policies that allow for equal employment of Black transgender people by ensuring equal pay, guaranteeing safe workplaces, and encouraging inclusive hiring policies.

6. Host Cultural Events and Celebrations: Develop culturally rich events and celebrations to boost morale, uplift the spirits of Black transgender people, and create a unified community.

7. Increase Visibility of Black Trans People in Leadership Positions: Increase the visibility of Black Trans people in leadership positions by nominating them to school boards, city council, and advocating for their appointments to positions of power.
8. Establish Mental Health Services: Establish programs that provide access to mental health services for Black transgender people, and support the well-being of the Black Trans Nation.
