ExtraFood is a key player in providing fresh food for Marin’s most vulnerable children, seniors and families. And at the same time, working to end food waste and impacting the climate crisis. ExtraFood has made a huge impact on the health of Marin and for that, I am 100% supportive and tremendously grateful!

ExtraFood is really making an impact in Marin in a lot of different ways. Their mission is very clear, it is such a win to see people I know that are benefitting from the volunteer piece of the organization as well as social safety nets that are using ExtraFood as one of their main resources to getting food on the table to families in need.
